BREVITIES.

The mountain peaks in view of Lynchburg are mantled with snow.

The infant son of Alexandria has been christened Albert Alexander.

They are enjoying three feet of "beautiful snow" down in Vermont.

The first Protestant church within the walls of the city of Boston was opened on the 25th of October.

Little Rock newsmen cry: "Here's yet new governor—price only five cents."

Since the election it is becoming very fashionable at the north to speak of our "cared brethren" as though they were.

The roar of the battle is heard again in the land. In short, they are coming into fashion again.

Mrs. McFarland Richardson is teaching young Chicago ladies how to make wax dowers.

The grasshoppers have put on woolen underwear and given other indications of their arrival and hang around all winter.

"Circumstances over which he has no control" require the absence of Mr. V. V. Smith from Arkansas for a "few days."

Last returns of the pension list in France show that there are still living 500 men who served in the armies of the first Napoleon.

They say that five thousand gentlemen have written to the Chicago papers to say that V. V. Smith is a relative of theirs.

Texas is preyed on by Dr. Peter Gunn, last, a seven-year-old who has taken to himself six consecutive wives and given paternity to four children.

It is rumored that Joaquin Miller is about to return and have a talk with Mrs. M. At least the London papers say that he has had his bar cut very close to his head.

Miss Nelson wears a beautiful ring set, with a cat's eye, for a talisman. This is what has kept her from falling in love with any of the two hundred different "Romos" with whom she has played the advent Capital.

They say that the Empress of Germany has a "secret" bed and dusts out all that, every morning. We are rather surprised at this, because we had understood that she is a strict vegetarian.

The daughter of Wm. Surron, banker, was married to F. G. Newlands, by Archbishop Alemany last week at San Francisco. It was a brilliant assemblage present at the wedding. The present sum of the father of the bride was $1,000,000.

A policeman in Chicago, passing a house one night recently, heard a woman screaming, "O Henry, Henry, come here quick! Susan! mother! the baby is dead!"

Gallantly breaking the door and rushing up the stairs, he found that the lady had just cut her tooth.

The Rev. Edward Potter, of New York, has been received from the Methodist Episcopal church, into the Reformed Episcopal church, into the Association of Friends, into the church organization, as to valid the ministry of all churches of Christ, it does demand not reordination.

There are more kid gloves sold in New York than in any city in the world. The annual returns at that port are about 250,000 dozen, and the number of first class gloves, including an article a year, the number reaches 800,000 dozen a year, making $10,000 paid annually to New York merchants for this one article.

The goldsmith in the world has just died in Paris. He was 100 years of age. He was called Father Phipps. He began his trade at nine years of age, and worked at it until his hundredth year. He died at his shop, in the Rue des Petits Champs, on the 21st of November. The Rev. months ago he made a pair of pantaloons for his youngest great-grandchild. It took him a fortnight. "And to think," he said, "that once upon a time I could make a pair in a day."

It is reported that the president will, in his address, urge upon congress the necessity of immediate legislation for the protection of the blacks in the south, and in view of the general outcry against the southern laws and orders. But after tinkering for ten years at this melancholy business, would it not be well to give to the reconstructed states, each and all, a fair opportunity to govern themselves? N. Y. Herald, 26th.

The last French service of the last of the French emigres buried recently in Nantes. M. Pillon was a cabin boy on board the Berwick, and was taken prisoner with the survivors of the crew. He remained in England for 18 months. The then Archdeacon of Canterbury felt an interest in the lad and had him educated, and on his return to France he became professor of English at the Lycees of Nantes, where he died in harness the other day.

Napoleon III. never dealt harshly with his cousin, though often sorely tried by him, as well as his father Jerome, ex-king of Westphalia. The old man, on whom the emperor had conferred the title of "Emperor," far from being a man of iron, was a softy, petulant in the emperor's presence, that the latter had nothing in common with the first Napoleon. "Pardon me, uncle," replied the emperor, with imperiousness, "I have my family on my hands."

The grave of Edgar Allan Poe will soon be marked by the monument it should have had long ago. Of the $1,000 needed for the purpose, $625 are already in the treasury, and the remaining $375 will be easily obtained.

The Baldwin tailor in the world has just died in Paris. He was 100 years of age. He was called Father Phipps. He began his trade at nine years of age, and worked at it until his hundredth year. He died at his shop, in the Rue des Petits Champs, on the 21st of November. The Rev. months ago he made a pair of pantaloons for his youngest great-grandchild. It took him a fortnight. "And to think," he said, "that once upon a time I could make a pair in a day."

That the doctrine of the infallibility of the Pope was a divine trust before the Vatican council was held, and that the infallibility of the Pope is now known to all, is of doubtful constitutionality, when sought to be applied in Georgia, provided, however, that there is no special authority for it in the reconstruction acts.

Archbishop Manning makes these assertions in his reply:

In placing over 10 columns of the "awful" young lady. I read of the "awful" young lady. Who's in such an "awful" way? She lives with her "awful" father. And she's so "awful" that she's afraid to go to school. And it sometimes "awfully" frightened By seeing an "awful" mouse.

She learns such "awful" lessons! And goes to an "awful" school; Her mother is an "awful" fool. And, therefore, an "awful" fool. Mary Smith is an "awful" nice girl. And she's so "awful" that she's afraid to go to school. They say an "awful" walk day. But it came to an "awful" end. For they met an "awful" man. And he was so "awful" that he would be would be.

And they're so "awful" that And, as who's in such an "awful" is it. This is the "awful" young lady. Full half dozen times a minute? And he gravely expressed his conviction, As if he were so "awful" that That they don't stop saying "awful." They will come to an "awful" end.

MARKET REPORTS.

We received no telegraphic market reports up to the hour of half past three.

Atlanta Wholesale Price Current

[CORRECTED DAILY.]

CONSTITUTION OFFICE, Atlanta, Ga., November 23, 1874.

REMARKS. — We have scarcely any change to notice in the market now. The offerings of cotton are moderate except in the banks, while they exhibit some increase on the street, but capital is apparently confined to a few parties who are reluctant to make any large purchases, accompanied by unexceptionable collaterals, which are scarce. Nothing has transpired that indicates any change in rates.

Dealers in meat have been much annoyed by the heavy tax on the non-recognition of outstanding orders for hams. There has been quite a demand for meat, but it is believed, will all be taken up in filling orders already received. So that really as yet, we must report no market.

The stock of pork is increasing in market, but was, the pens are rapidly cleared. During the week prices have advanced one-half cent and the expectation is of a further advance before the market shows any signs on the part.

There is a limited supply of corn in market. The demand is tolerable fair. The stock of oats is light, stock slightly increased. Hay, straw and hay being received, will all be taken up in filling orders already received. So that really as yet, we must report no market.
